

Appl. No. 09/889,935
Reply to Office Action of 2 March 2005

REMARKS

I. Support for the claim can be found on page 10, third full paragraph of the instant specification.

II. The above claim further distinguishes the invention of interest from the two asserted anticipatory references.

III. Regarding the obviousness rejections of record, there is neither teaching nor suggestion of priming a surface with an initiator and then conducting a polymerizing chain reaction at the initiated surface.
